

The Power of Meaning and Memory

Anne Basting
UW-Milwaukee;
TimeSlips.org

Health

Art

Beautiful
Questions

Yes,
And...

Proof of Listening

A BEAUTIFUL QUESTION:

What is the most beautiful sound in the world?

Here's my answer:

your mother's voice
from birth to the end of time

What's yours?

TimeSlips™
CONNECTING THROUGH CREATIVITY

A little Creative Care from TimeSlips.org
You can also leave your voice

• If you could look outside your window and see anything you wish, what would you want to see? Why?

TimeSlips™

Virtual Engagement Party

What is a TimeSlips Engagement Party?

- An informal and joyful gathering for those who want to learn how to creatively engage with friends, family members (biologic or chosen) or neighbors who might be lonely, frail, or experiencing memory loss.
- At Engagement Parties, guests will learn simple engagement techniques that can create shared moments of imagination – with no right or wrong answers!

Use these techniques to facilitate Creative Conversations

- Invite the person into the moment with you
- Ask a Beautiful Question
- Echo what you hear – Proof of Listening
- Ask another question from their response – Yes, and...

How might we use these techniques in everyday situations?

- Let's explore how we can apply creativity to situations we might encounter when caring for someone living with memory loss.
- Here are some examples of common situations we've heard from caregivers, with examples of using Beautiful Questions and Yes, and... to turn these into meaningful creative conversations.

Scenario 1: Can you pass the...

Imagine you are having lunch with a friend and they struggle to remember the name for ketchup. Rather than tell them the name, you could say:

A: What do you want to call it?

B: Red bottle.

A: "Red bottle." Okay, here's the red bottle.

Scenario 2: My foot hurts...

Imagine you are visiting a loved one and they keep saying their foot hurts. Rather than trying to distract them, you could say:

A: If your foot could talk, what would it say?

B: I'm tired.

A: "I'm tired." Okay. What can we do to wake your feet up?

MILWAUKEE TELE-STORIES

Artists connecting creatively with elders via phone.

Meet the artists!

ALWAYS HOME

Milwaukee, WI

Runtime 4:23

ALWAYS HOME

Milwaukee, WI

Runtime 4:23

Health

Art

